WEEKS CONFESSED TO KILLING OF FATHER

Henry Weeks, nearly 17 years of age, confesses killing his father over a month ago. He said after an argument he threatened to return to his mother in Nevada City, after which his father threatened to kill him. He claims he defended himself against his father's anger. The boy said not have nerve enough to give himself up after going to the court house, he stated, and returned home taking the body and disposing of it in an old mine shaft.

The 64 year old father was missed from his ranch near Dew Drop Inn in southern Nevada county, and a search had been on for some time. Sheriff Carter and officers found the body and returned to this city where the boy was in the county jail and after questioning he finally confessed.

Young Weeks and John Lauasaus, another boy, are accused of stealing tires and gas from the car of W. Goudge at the Empire mine. The missing tires were found in their possession.

The Weeks boy's parents were separated and the mother had remarried to A. P. Rogers of Nevada City.

HIGH SCHOOL BAND TO LEAD PARADE

The annual Donation Day parade, which is sponsored by the Nevada City Benevolent Society, each spring is to be held today, 9pril 22nd. Owing to bad weather in March the parade was postponed.

The Nevada City high school band will lead the annual donation day parade this afternoon from the Washington grammar school down through the business district of the city. They will be followed by grammar and high school pupils in line of march and the Nevada City Elks will participate in the parade. They will circulate through the crowds to see that collections are made as large as possible.

The affair is to be carried out along plans of other years, with the school children and Elks lodge being among the outstanding participants.

Lecturing Knight Curtis Clarke will be grand marshal, assisted by a number of brother Elks, in forming a sizeable group.

Thirty two families were aided by supplying food, wood, clothing and milk, etc. The sum of nearly $400 has been expended this hard winter and funds are needed to meet the demands of the 1932-33 winter.

CLEVELAND MINE

J. I. McCullough has taken an option on the Cleveland mine, one of the large hydraulic properties in northern Sierra county. Mr. McCullough is now in New York arranging the necessary financing. George F. Taylor of Downieville is resident engineer for the company. If Mr. McCullough succeeds in his financing plans his success will mean the commencement of hydraulic operations on a large scale on the old Mammoth Channel.

SKEIN AND NEVILLE MINE

The owners of the Skein and Neville mine at Democrat Hill, near Emigrant Gap, in eastern Nevada county, have had two men employed at the mine all winter.

This property was hydraulicked in early days and a new tunnel is being run to contact an old channel. The property has a good past production record, according to reports.

RISING HOPE MINE TO BE TAKEN OVER

P. C. Alexander has completed negotiations for taking over the Rising Hope mine near Placerville from John Orr and associates.

A small crew of men has already been put to work on the property and more will be employed as rapidly as the property can be gotten ready for development. At the present time efforts are being directed toward claring away debris at the property.

ROCKLIN GRANITE FOR SACTO POST OFFICE

Ray Harris, who was The Nugget correspondent from Calaveras county, wrote an editorial recently urging the people of the state to buy semi-precious stones and cements of our own Sierra Nevada mountains to build with, instead of sending to other states or foreign countries.

Several days ago an article came to our attention that the beautiful granite from the quarry at Rocklin, Placer county, is to be used in the construction of the new post office in Sacramento. We understood that plans had been made to use granite from the mid-west.

Sacramento has set a fine example in assisting in buliding up our mountain districts by selecting this stone. Other cities will follow suit as they realize the vast mineral wealth of our Sierra Nevada mountains.

HOGE MINE ORE BEING CRUSHED AT MURCHIE

Four trucks are being used to move the many tons of rich ore from the dump of the Hoge mine northeast of Nevada City to the Murchie flotation mill east of town, where it is being crushed. Two of the trucks have a 10 ton capacity and the four will handle about 150 tons of ore daily.

A large steam shovel was brought in within the last ten days to load the ore at the Hoge mine and it is dumped on a platform and transferred by the automatic conveyor to the oil flotation mill.

The Murchie mine is one of the best equipped mines in this section of California and the Newmont company, the new owners, will crush their own ore as soon as the company is ready to start operations at the property.

It is reported that net earnings of the Idaho-Maryland Mines company of Grass Valley are such that the preferred stock is being retired paving the way for dividends on the common stock. On March first of this year 55,393 shares of the par value of $1. with accrued interest at 8% per annum were retired leaving 165,573 shares outstanding. A call was sent out for 25% of this amount to be retired April first of this year.

The management has announced that it is it's intention to retire the entire preferred shares as fast as earnings will permit and put the common stock on a dividend basis.

Many changes and additions in machinery have been made within the last twelve months, and the mine is in splendid shape with the stamps dropping on rich ore. The mill is operating at about full capacity.

Albert Crase is superintendent of the property.

Errol MacBoyle is president, and through his unerring business ability he has made a success of this wonderful property that was to have been abandoned.

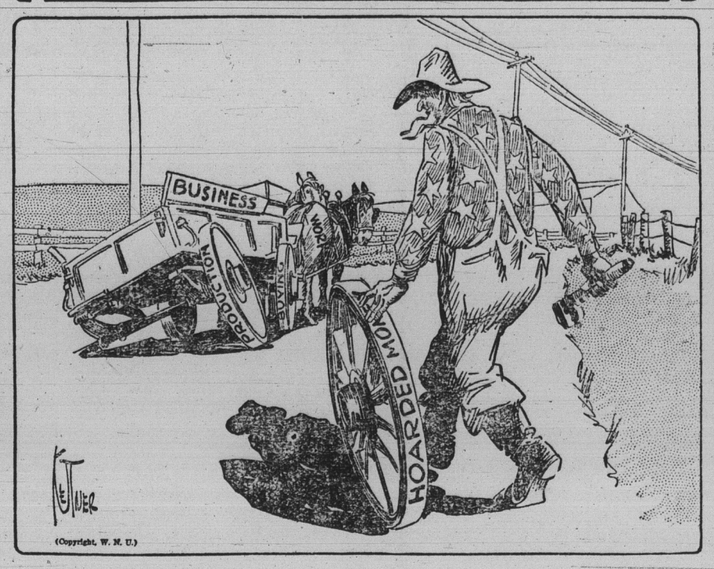
RAIL FARES SLASHED FOR MAY DAY PERIOD

May Day excursionsists, together with persons planning distant trips in western territory, will find the door to low-cost transportation open from April 28 to May 1, with the offering of another series of "cent-a-mile" trips by the Southern Pacific Company.

Announcement to this effect was made today by E. W. Clapp, general passenger traffic manager for the company, who stated that the special roundtrip program will embrace all points on the railroad's lines in six western states. May 10 has been fixed for the final return limit under the provisions of the offer.

The Fourth Wheel



TRIPLE POCKET MINE IS SINKING WINZE

Sinking from the 100 foot level has been started at the Triple Pocket mine, south of Downieville. The winze is down about 50 feet on a four foot vein, and will be continued about 100 feet further, when it will be below the deepest workings in the old tunnel, made about 30 years ago.

Sinking operations will be continued while ample water is available, and the mill will probably not be operated while the development work is in progress.

Addison Brown, owner of the property, is preparing to install a new hoist to take the place of the tugger now used in the winze. One shift is being employed at present.

About a year ago Mr. Brown struck a large deposit of rich ore on this vein that netted him a goodly sum of money. The mine has a large past production record and gets its name from three large pockets of gold discovered in the the property.

FELECIANA MINE

O. Olson has a small force of men operating the Feliciana mine, near Mariposa, and some excellent ore has recently been taken out and milled.

For the past several months regular shipments of gold bullion have been made to the mint.

OUT DOOR SCOUT RALLY SECOND WEEK IN MAY

The first outdoor Rally for Scouts to be held by the Tahoe Area council has been set by the executive board for Friday evening and Saturday, May 13 and 14th, at the same site, the United Fruit company ranch about two miles south of the Bear river on the Grass Valley-Auburn highway. This place has been selected because it has been found suitable from the experience gained there from troop officers' training camps and because it is about half way between the two extremes of the council territory ,Roseville and Nevada City.

The program sent out last week to the scoutmasters and committeemen, featuring camping on a patrol basis, being competitive thru a set of standards whereby it is posibl for any or all parols to be rated as "A" patrols.

As each patrol arrives at the Camporal, Friday evening it will be assigned a location, make camp, pitch tents, etc., and be prepared for a campfire at 8:30 P. M. composed of songs, stunts and stories. Saturday morning breakfast will be cooked by patrols, camp prepared for inspections, and events in bird and tree indentification, judging number, height ,distance and weight, compass, pacing, signalling, packing and patrol camp equipment, cooking, fire building and its care; an obstacle event (the obstacles being unknown. They will be prepared ahead of time being taken from Tenderfoot, Second Class and First Class Requirements).

Other competitive events by patrols will close the Camporal about 4 P. M. Saturday. It is expected that this will become an annual affair and become as important an event as the annual indoor rally at Roseville. Moving pictures of the Camporal will be made for future display at Parents night programs of Troops and Courts of Honor. H. Ricksecker.

AUTOGIRO WILL FEATURE SHOW

Arrangements are complete for a feature air show to be staged at Gilmore Airport, Grass Valley, next Saturday and Sunday, April 23-24.

The main feature attraction will be an autogiro. This novel plane is capable of taking off in a space 75 feet wide and 200 feet long, landing in a space 50 feet square. In other words it can come almost straight down and land. The large fan or blades which revolve above the plane do not require any power from the engine except in taking off. Although they revolve at a speed of about 135 r. p. m. while the ship is in motion They are kept in motion by the wind and are completely disconnected from the engine while the plane is flying The insurance is 40 per cent lower than other ships because of the slow speed in landing of from 5 to 15 miles per hour.

DIADEM EXPECTS TO PUT ON EXTRA SHIFT

Work is well under way at the Diadem mine in Forest. Whitman Symmes, the engineer for the Shamrock Gold Mining company, the present leassee, will leave shortly for the mine and after completing further preliminary work will probably put an additional shift to work.

It is expected that the Diadem mine will show gratifying results early this summer.

If operations at the Diadem mine are successful there will be a trinity of mines in the 16-to-1, Diadem and Brush Creek which may cause Grass Valley to look to its laurels.

GRASS VALLEY-COLFAX ROAD WELL ALONG

With six of the 10 miles of grade between Grass Valley and Bear river bridge, below Chicago Park, completed, the contractors started connecting the county highway directly with the city paving at Colfax avenue and Ophir street, in Grass Valley.

The grade is now completed from Bear river to the Merkle ranch, a distance of six miles. The remaining four miles are under construction at various points. Preparations for surfacing are underway.

This road is being built under county supervision and under the provisions of a state law which permits the retirement of cost bills over a period of years from county road funds. A district was formed but no assessments are contemplated. The purpose is to link Nevada City and Grass Valley with Colfax and the Victory highway, and to serve farming sections centering at Chicago Park and Peardale.

PAINE BROTHERS MINE WILL SOON BE OPERATING

The Broken Hills Mining Corporation of Battle Mountain, Nevada, has acquired the Paine Brothers mining property eleven miles north of Nevada City on the North Bloomfield-Alleghany highway. It is understood that the Paymaster mining company is being organized for its development.

L. E. Stein of San Francisco is managing director of the company, and M. F. Appenlander is to be engineer in charge

Considerable new machinery has been taken to the property and plans are to start milling within a few weeks or as soon as the machinery is installed.

In a communication from Managing Director L. E. Stein Saturday, he stated that, "Bert Austin, well known mining engineer, has acquired a portion of the Paine Bros. property for some of his associates the deal was consummated in his office in San Francisco this morning."

Mr. Austin has taken an option on three of the eight claims and the United Empress company has had its experts looking the property over.

A. G. Stoll, mining engineer, stated that assays on the property run as high as $2,000 a ton.

There is at present a tunnel on the property which is in 350 feet. It is about 300 feet from the South Yuba river, where the mill is already on the ground and ready to be set up. An operating plant has also been hauled in.

Last Monday four men were put to work driving the tunnel ahead.

ONE STERAM CLOSED ONE OPENED TO ANGLERS

The Truckee river which was closed last season to fishing on account of low water, will be open to fishermen June 1st, just 30 days after the official opening of trout season. This river's source is at Lake Tahoe spillway running to the California-Nevada border.

At the same time the anouncement was made of the closing of Donner Creek from Donner Lake to the junction with the Truckee river and Milton Creek and its tributaries from the junction with the south fork of the north fork of the Yuba river to its source.

Milton Creek, in Sierra county, is generally regarded in this section as Haypress Creek.

MORATORIUM ON MINING WORK MAY BE PASSED

Washington, D. C.—Thousands of owners ofmining claims in the West will be benefitted if a resolution backed by Representatives Phil D. Swing of California and John M. Evans of Montana, is passed, and a favorable report on the measure has been promised by the house committee on mines and mining, on May 1st.

The bill would suspend for one year the requirement of the present law that at least $100 worth of assessment work must be done on each claim annually.

Swing holds that on account of the depression a majority of the individual owners of mining claims are without money to do their annual assessment work, and that it would mean the loss of property on which in the past they have expended very considerable amounts in many cases.

If the resolution passes the house, which appears fairly certain at the present time, it will have the backing not only of such senators as Key Pittman of Nevada, but King and Smoot of Utah, who are generall on the opposite side of any measure which is introduced.

With money being loaned to railroads, farmers and banks, etc., by the government, it is felt that this measure, which would not increase the financial burdens of the government in any way, but would assist many thousand mine owners thru the suggested moratorium, would be sure to pass.

HANS BUTTEN FOUND DEAD AFTER SNOW IS MELTED

The body of Hans Butten, 48, a miner, who left the Old Colony mine a few days before last Christmas to obtain decorations for a Christmas tree, was found in the snow a half mile from the mine

Butten made his way to Forest City, Sierra county, where he obtained the decorations, and was apparently caught by a blizzard on his return trip. The Christmas tree decorations were clutched in his hands.

His body was found when Robert Morris and Miss Nellie Davey of Forest saw the arm of the body protruding through the snow. Indications were that Butten became exhausted with his struggle through the storm that was raging on the day he was last seen and died of exposure when one of his skis broke.

An inquest was hled in Downieville, with interment taking place in the Downieville cemetery last Friday.

THE BANK OF OROVILLE RECEIVES GOLD NUGGET

A gold brick weighing 430 ounces and valued at about $8,000. was recently deposited in the First National Bank of Oroville by the Shasta Butte Dredging Company, operators of the only dredger in the Oroville section. The company is operating about two miles west of Oroville.

The brick was admired by Oroville mining men, and later forwarded to the San Francisco mint by the bank. The brick is the largest brought to Oroville since the boom dredging days in that district.

GRUENEWALD NOW 350 FEET IN WITH TUNNEL

Otto Gruenewald, who has driven a tunnel 350 feet on his property near Nevada City in an endeavor to cut into the old Chapman vein, has completed clearing up the tunnel after a cave-in last fall, and has started to timber. He announces he is installing an air compressor in order to hasten the work. This is being done on the Yellow Diamond, on of his group of claims.

JONES GRAVEL MINE

The Jones gravel mine in Steep Hollow just above Mount Oro, in eastern Nevada county, has had a crew of four men working all winter. Four more men were added to the crew Monday.

Good values were found in the gravel in the old tunnel, it is said. A new tunnel is being driven to strike the old river channel at another place to more advantageously work the rich gravels.

PROMINENT PERSONS TO ASSIST IN WORK OF RECONSTRUCTION

Los Angeles, April 21.—Declaring the campaign of the Citizens' Reinstruction Oragnization, of which he is California chairman headed by Col. Frank Knox, Chicago publisher, opening next week in this state, to be the most vital step in the reconstruction campaign, John G. Mott, of this city, yesterday characterized the spirit of the local movement to have the allaying of fear as the outstanding objective, which should in turn put thousands of California men and women on the job.

Enlarging on the immediate possibility of the re_employment in this state, Mr. Mott said tha testimates were in agreement that $50,000,000. was probably hiding in this state, and that this represented eight times the intrinsic sum involved, or $400,000,000. taken from the credit structure, which in useful curculation would be adequate to accomplish this purpose.

"We are not concerned with the channels into which Californians place this money, but we are immediately and vitally concerned in clarifying the understanding of our people as to the safety of our state resources, and in turn, many will be enlightened so they may comfortably and assuredly enter into the normal transaction of business, and not be fearful of loss", he said.

One of the most distinguished and complete advisory committees ever assembled in agreement on a great public move in the golden state was announced at the Los Angeles headquarters yesterday. It includes prominent and resposible heads of practically every spiritual, educational and civic force in the state.

With the announcement of the advisory committee, Mr. Mott said it was impossible to express his own gratitude, and that of Colonel Knox, for the warm and enthusiastic response to the requests for donated time and energy in bringing the campaign to a successful head during the week of April 17.

In almost every church in California it is believed pastors will analyze next Sunday the question of uneconomic hiding of money; the dangers of fear, the responsibilities of citizenship; whle all the service clubs will give time at their weekly meetings for the subject; and radio stations will broadcast the remarks of distinguished speakers.

In his statement, Mr. Mott, enlarging on the possibilities of safety in the use of hidden money, places California's material wealth at $20,_000,000,000.; calls attention to the wonderful opportunities in the purchases of real estate; to the greatly lowered prices for merchandise; to the low prices for listed securities of impregnable national corporations; to the certainty of bank stability through national legislation already passed, and to their healthy condition after having weathered a storm of adversity.

He also stressed the fact that this campaign was not to raise funds to create fictitious buying; nor to attempt to sell federal bonds—stating that the committee's policy was to instruct the public that if the individual felt safter in purchasing federal bonds of any issue, or the so-called Reconstruction, or "Baby Bonds", recently put upon the market, that htat was an individual problem, purely incidental in the campaign against fear and uncertainty.

Following is the list of the members of the advisory council: Mrs. Annie Little Barry, president, California Federation of Women's Clubs; Miss Monte M. Bedwell, president, California Business & Professional Women's Clubs; Benno M. Brink, state deputy, Knights of Columbus; Porter Bruck, president, California Land Title Association; Mrs. Evelyn I. Carlson, grand president, Native Daughters of the Golden West; Judge Claude Chambers, president, California Affiliated Exchange Clubs; Peter J. Crosby, president, State Bar of California; John Albert Eby, D. D., general secretary, Church Federation of Los Angels; Robert B. Gaylord; Dr. Frank I. Gonzales, president, Native Sons of the Golden West; His Excellency, Most Reverend Edward J. Hanna; Peter Hanson, president, California Real Estate Association; A. W. Hoch, president, California State Federation of Labor; Vierling Kersey, California State Superintendent of Education; Dr. Rufus B. von KleinSmid, president, University of Southern California; Frederick J. Koster, president, California State Chamber of Commerce; Rev. F. M. Larkin, executive secretary, California State Church Federation; Albert E. Lombard, C. S. Com. on Pub.; Rabbi Edgar F. Magnin; Philip N. McCaughan, governor, Kiwanis International; Dr Florence May Morse, president, California League of Business & Professional Women; Dr. Milton R. FRENCH CORRAL

French Corral, April 20 —The much wished for April showers came in great force last Wednesday afternoon. Rain falling during the week gives promise of good crops.

Nearly every day brings visitors to our little town and it is impossible to learn the names of all.

Miss Millie Clerkin, Mrs. K. Sullivan, and Miss Nelly Sullivan visited friends in Nevada City and Grass Valley Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Proom and their son, Francis Proom, and wife of Oakland are spending some time at their home in Sweetland. They have come at just the right time to enjoy the beauty of our country.

Mrs. J. W. Culver returned to French Corral Saturday, after visiting with Mrs. E. Schwartz during the week. oBth ladies attended meetings of O. E. S. in Marysville. Mrs Schwartz accompanied Mrs Culver, Saturday and returned to her home in Grass Valley Sunday.

Messrs. William Gordon and Frank Hipp were visitors from Grass Valley Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Chatty and children, Miss Mabel Chatty, her mother, Mrs. Chatty, and Mrs. E. Chatty's brother, Will Culver of Oakland paid a surprise visit to Mrs. J. W. Culver on the occasion of her birthday the 19th. They returned to San Francisco Sunday afternoon.

E. Dillon and Ed Jarvis returned to Marysville after several weeks sojourn in French Corral.

Mr. and Mrs. Verne Fogarty and three children of Yuba City and Mr. Fogarty's mother, rMs. T. F. Fogarty, of Marysville visited the family of W. E. Moulton Sunday.

Miss Fances Moulton spent the week end with her parents, W. E. Moulton and wife of French Corral.

Mr. and Mrs. Wright and H. Baker of Oakland who are interested in the Golden Fleece mine were Sunday visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. James Huntley and children and Misses Merle and Anna May Hoffman of Sacramento were Sunday visitors. Mr. Hutley returned to Sacramento Sunday evening. The other members of the party will remain for the week to visit with friends and the old home place of their childhood.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Dudley of Nevada City were Sunday visitors at the home of Mrs. Dudley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Moulton of French Corral.

A match game of base ball was played Sunday by the Rackerby and San Juan teams, with the score 8 to 5, in favor of San Juan.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. May arrived from Sacramento Monday. Their many friends in this section are glad of their return. Mr. May has mining interests here which he is very anxious to develop. On one side of Mineral Hill on his property is a large granite dyke which runs north west and south east. A mineral belt lies between this dyke and one further to the east. The old Slide mine and many other quartz ledges lie in this mineral belt. From the ravines early day miners took out lots of quartz gold. It is Mr. May's intention to work upon the contact which he prospected last year. He expects to have news of much importance to give out in the near future. We will add "more power to him" and look forward to better times. What the old ridge wants is some progressive people to bring out the best there is here.

Deputy Sheriff Nettle paid a visit to this place yestreday.

HE APPRECIATES SAVINGS ON FOOD!

ELECTRIC REFRIGERATION Cuts Bills!

PERHAPS you believe that electric refrigeration is a luxury, something to be proud of before friends. Many persons do. They think that electric refrigeration is fine for those who can afford frozen desserts, ice cubes, and a safe place to keep food fresh for days and days.

However, recent studies by food authorities reveal that an electric refrigerator is a wise investment.

It saves food from spoiling because its temperature is automatically kept below 50 degrees, winter and summer. Above 50 degrees, perishable foods spoil rapidly. And this waste amounts to 10 per cent of the food bill or $40.20 a year in the average family of four.

A further saving from $85 to $102 a year can be made by buying large quantities of week-day and Saturday specials and keeping them in the electric refrigerator until used.

Electric refrigeration is necessary the year 'round. Temperature in a cooler is uncertain, even in winter. And the kitchen, you know, is heated. Here, too, foods spoil rapidly.

A small first payment will buy an electric refrigerator. Then the balance may be paid on easy terms.

Running Interference For Sharkey Bill

Outside interference with the internal business of California, is the subject of comment by the National Oil Derrick, militant journal of the petroleum industry, in its current issue. It directs attention to the attempts of 'Alfalfa Bill' Murray, Oklahoma governor and presidential aspirant, and the Royal Dutch Shell British-owned Oil Corporation to advise California voters to support the Sharkey Oil Control Bill May 3rd.

Questioning the ethics of Governor Murray's gratuitous advice to voters of a sister state, The Derrick also says the Oklahoman's widely circulated letter reveals "abysmal ignorance" of the Sharkey bill.

"The statement that the Sharkey bill is practically the same as the Oklahoma law is contrary to every fact concerning the measure," The Derrick asserts, pointing out that the entire scheme of the Sharkey Bill hangs on economic waste, a provision not included in the Oklahoma law and "almost unanimously rejected by legislatures of oil producing states."

"The Oklahoma statute is administered by a responsible and responsive body, the state railroad commission, while the Sharkey act would set up legal control and monopoly of the oil business lodged in an unresponsive body controlled by major oil corporations," The Derrick declares.

"The impudent attempt of the Royal Dutch Shell, a foreign corporation, to mix up in internal affairs of this state", is a target for the Derrick barrage.

Denying that there is any overproduction of oil in California, as shown by daily withdrawals from storage to meet normal demands, The Derrick asserts that the Royal Dutch Shell is "the last organization which should complain of overproduction in California or elsewhere."

"The Royal Dutch Shell is at the present moment a flagrant offender against economic conditions of oil production by increasing to its utmost the volume of importation of foreign oil," The Derrick states. "Last week, imports of foreign oil by the Dutch Shell and other major corporations, amounted to 590,000 barrels a day, considerably more than the entire California production."

The Derrick concludes: "If the voters care to take the dictation of "Alfalfa Bill" Murray of Oklahoma and the Royal Dutch Shell of London and world ports, in the matter of regulation of their internal affairs, they will vote with the major corporations.

"If they wish to preserve the principal industry of California, put men to work and avoid further increase in unemployment, keep the prices of gasoline and by-products of petroleum within reasonable range of the consumer, they certainly will vote "NO" on Oil Control (Sharkey Bill) Proposition No. 1, on the ballot at the primary election on May 3rd."

Oil Control Act Urged As Vital To State's Welfare

"Ratification of the Sharkey Oil Control Act at the special election, called for the purpose by Governor Rolph on May 3, is essential to the prosperity of California."

Such is the concensus of statements that have come by the score during the past few days from business and trade organizations, labor, and leaders of opinion in all parts of the state.

"The interest of this, that, or the other group in the oil industry is secondary. The interest of the people of California comes first!" is the view that groups in every field of activity are taking, as the campaign on the oil conservation measure draws attention to the real intent of its provisions.

From Governor Rolph and from numerous other impartial authorities who have taken the trouble to investigate conditions in the oil fields, have come statements that there is no issue now confronting the people more vital to the general welfare of the state than that involved in the oil conservation measure.

The federal government, likewise, is endeavoring to convey to the people of California the importance of the oil control act as a means of conserving our natural resources, both with a view to our national defense and toward creating stabilized conditions, which would serve to meet the unemployment crisis and hasten the business revival.

The campaign in support of the measure is being pressed by more than 90 per cent of the oil producers of the state—numbering close to 600 independent operators.

The opposition, according to this group, comes from a selfish minority that has refused to take any step toward voluntary curtailment of production, either in the interest of the industry, of conservation, or of the welfare of the state as a whole. It is the same group, they say, that has persisted in "draining the other fellow's oil" when efforts have been made, during the last few years, to curtail overproduction in California's oil fields by voluntary cooperation.

Secretary of the Interior Ray Lyman Wilbur, who is directing the Federal Government's conservation of the nation's oil resources, says: "I trust the (Sharkey) Oil Conservation Act will have the full endorsement of the people of California."

Clyde L. Seavey, who as president of the Railroad Commission of California, dealing with all the public utilities, is probably in a better position than any other person in the state to know the difference between the measures that are "monopolistic" and "competitive," says that there is no chance of a monopoly being created under the Sharkey Act.

Here is his statement:

"I am in favor of the conservation statute known as the Sharkey Act. The act will protect our irreplaceable reserves of crude oil and natural gas against waste. The law presents no element of monopoly. Unquestionably the act should be ratified by the people."

William H. "Alfalfa Bill" Murray, famous "dirt farmer" governor of Oklahoma, another great oil-producing state, says:

"Legal proration of petroleum production is absolutely essential, if the petroleum industry is to be saved from chaos and ruin. This is practically identical with the law of my state, which has resulted in saving the independent producer as a competitive factor in the industry."

E. B. Reeser, national authority on petroleum production, requested by Governor Rolph to investigate conditions in California, reported that the Sharkey Act offered the only "available hope to stop the drift toward disintegration of capital investment of companies operating exclusively in the older producing fields of the state."

Reeser also pointed out that the industry is staggering under the burden of tremendous stocks in storage, due to the current rate of overproduction, which is more than twice the amount necessary to meet the normal demand. He said that the depletion of our oil resources was so rapid that the present rate of production "could not be maintained for much longer than five years." With reference to the Sharkey Act he said specifically:

"It is my opinion that the enactment of this law would prevent prices of petroleum products (gasoline, etc.) from going to extreme high levels."

The oil experts say that not only will the Sharkey Act tend to prevent mounting prices of gasoline but, furthermore, that any such increase is prevented by competition with other oil states.

The Sharkey Oil Control Act was enacted by the last legislature by a vote of more than two to one in the Senate and more than five to one in the Assembly. It was approved by Governor Rolph, who investigated the necessity for the act thoroughly, as did the legislature.

The Sharkey Act, its supporters point out, is very simple in its terms and operation. It sets up an oil conservation commission of six, the election of whose members will be controlled by the independent companies, since the latter outnumber the major companies by at least five to one, and, in some cases, forty to one in the oil and gas districts into which the state is divided. One member of the commission is the Oil and Gas Supervisor, a state official.

The interests of the public are further protected by the provision that no order of the conservation commission can take effect unless it has the approval of the Director of Natural Resources, another state official.

Chicago, Convention Champion of 1932

Chicago Stadium in which the Democratic National Convention will be held. Inset—Melvin A. Traylor, member of the Civic Committee which obtained the Convention for Chicago

CHICAGO has jumped into a long lead over other cities in the race for winning convention assignments, and particularly the two great assemblages of Democrats and Republicans in June puts Chicago well in the lead and gives the "Windy City" an opportunity to stage these colorful affairs as a curtain raiser to the "Century of Progress" which will be a headline attraction in 1933. Already the convention pot is boiling merrily as committees of prominent business men are organizing to receive thousands of visitors in Chicago during June.

One of the leaders who has helped to bring the blue ribbon convention assignments to Chicago is Melvin A. Traylor, president of the First National Bank and a business man with a flair for tackling big jobs. Mr. Traylor, a native of Kentucky, has achieved national and international fame in finance and business by his distinguished service in Chicago, Texas and throughout the Middle West. He was one of the delegation headed by E. N. Hurley and Mayor Cermak of Chicago who went to Washington and clinched their bid for the National Democratic Convention with a fund of $200,000.

Chicago has exceptional facilities for entertaining both Republican and Democratic conventions within a single month. Already the engineers are at work with blue prints to arrange the interior of the huge Chicago Stadium where both conventions will be held.

The assembling of both conventions promises to be a great spectacle, for the arena where delegates will be seated will accommodate between 8,000 and 10,000. Circling the arena are 16,000 seats where guests and visitors may be accommodated.

You and I

By CHARLES S. KINNISON

ONE LITTLE LIE

If I, with you, would truthful be
For twenty years, let's say—
You'd have implicit faith in me
That grew from day to day.
And if some folks, upon my name
Would try to cast a blot—
Your confidence I still would claim,
For you'd believe them not!

But let you catch me in a lie,
Just once—I'd find, alack,
Your faith in me would quickly die,
And never more come back!
However long the years may run,
Through which I've held your trust—
One lie from me and all I've won
Of faith will turn to dust!

NOW FOR THE "SIERRA WAY"

Plans for a great scenic highway north and south through the Sierra Nevada mountains, extending from Mount Shasta through the Lassen country, Nevada City, Lake Tahoe, Mono lake, Yosemite, General Grant, Sequoia, and on to the Kern river are proposed by the United States forest service. "The Sierra Way" is the name by which it is being proposed, and it is a real project, partly now in use, to be developed by connecting up present sections with new construction. The system will embrace 800 miles of federal roads when completed and will tie in with all state and county highways that cross or reach into the mountains.

This road was first proposed by Congressman Englebright of this district, who deserves much credit for his efforts in making the highway a reality. It is believed it will become one of California's most noteworthy scenic roads.

YUBA RIVER COUNTRY

By J. L. WOLFF.

Well in the heart of the Yuba River Canyon Country lies the old mining camp of Camptonville, twenty six miles northeast of Grass Valley-Nevada City on the Yuba Pass Highway. The highway crosses the canyon of the South Fork of the Yuba shortly after leaving Nevada City. The massive white concrete bridge that spans this boulder strewn river is a constant temptation for cameras Climbing out of the tree covered canyons the road heads for North San Juan, the subject of last week's bulletin.

As we leave the latter place we pass the old deserted Odd Fellows building, still standing, with its mellow brick walls and its memories of long ago. The road winds and shortly passes the sing "You are now entering the Tahoe National Forest". Rounding the point known as crows rock, although it is a white sandstone formation, we begin to drop downward toward the Middle Fork of the Yuba River. Here and there we secure a view of the large concrete bridge that spans this stream and in a few minutes we are looking down upon Freeman's Crossing.

It was here the original stage road crossed the river. Two of the pilings of an early bridge still stand as does also the large stable that was a portion of the toll house where man and beast might be sheltered at the same time. Beautiful rock walls built many, many years ago still stand in perfect condition. It was between these the up mountain passengers, men in boots wearing heavy gold chains and women in crinolines used to ride along the stage road. Just above the massive bridge that carries todays highway, famous Oregon Creek runs into the Middle Yuba. From this point two roads leave the state highway. One going to the right crossing Oregon Creek through an old covered bridge, proceeds up the Ridge to Alleghany, Forest, and the Henness Pass. To the left is The Moon Shine Road which crosses Moon Shine Creek enroute to Bullard's Bar Dam.

The Downieville highway now twists and turns as it climbs the grade alongside the tumbling Oregon Creek. Wen gold was first discovered in California in 1848, among the first to hear the news were Oregonians who had crossed the plains long before. A group of them came down along the foothills panning as they went and it was from them that Oregon Creek received its name. But as a gold producer it was never successful.

There are places along here where the motorist can pull off the highway and find a beautiful picnic spot down where the rushing waters swirl among the rocks. Two miles from the bridge another road branches to the right into Celestial Valley which was so called beacuse of the large number of Chinese who lived there during the 50's and 60's.
